COMMENTARY

LYMPHOLOGY, MEDICAL IGNORANCE/IGNORAMICS AND THE NOBEL CONNECTION:

Howard Florey, Joshua Lederberg, and Françoise Barre-Sinoussi

M.H. Witte

Department of Surgery, University of Arizona College of Medicine, Tucson, Arizona USA

ABSTRACT

Intriguing interludes with Nobel laureates have marked the history of Lymphology. Bounded (or rather unbounded) by a mutual fascination with ignorance and the unknown, their curiosity converged around microbes, infections, and host responses mediated by the lymphatic system. These studies transcended a simple “molecular model of life.”